

GLOBAL BALANCING TOOL

Abstract

Methods and systems for reconciling firm account data and exchange account data are provided. Firm account data and exchange account data are compared and discrepancies are displayed on a display device. A user may receive additional information about the data that does not match by selecting appropriate hyperlinks or other navigational items. The user may also enter adjustments.